

Terms of Use and Privacy Policy

As you are a valued subscriber, we would like you to be aware of the updates and changes to our privacy policy in accordance with The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) (Regulation (EU) 2016/679).

This website provides publication, contents and services for professionals in our areas of business. Our Terms of Use and Privacy Policy describes the information we collect from you and how we store and use it internally.

- We collect personal data such as first name, last name, job title, company name, work email and phone number to communicate, delivery request, send information and business opportunities that we may consider valuable to your business development.
- We do not use this information to send you marketing for third parties. Nor do we pass the information on to third parties for that purpose.
- We may collect all your personal data when you register to receive our services through email subscription, registration forms, contact forms, inquiry forms, and any other forms integrated into our public sites.
- We only store the kind of information that can be found on a typical business card, and in some cases, we may save additional details in connection with ongoing consultancy or negotiation.
- This site also collects and stores specific information automatically using cookies from third-party services, such as Google Analytics, including a region or general location of a computer or device accessing the internet, browser type, operating system, page view history, and other useful information. See Google Analytics Policy for further details.
- We will keep the information for as long as we have your consent to send you updates, proposals and possible professional collaboration.
- Your information will be stored on a third-party cloud database to whom we have contracted to support our business operations, and mailing will only be sent from our domain name, which may be accessed by company's authorised user.
- You have a right to see what information we store about you, and you have the right to ask for your information to be deleted, at any time.

If you have any query, concerns or complaints regarding our personal data practices or this Privacy Policy overwrites your interest, we encourage you to get in touch with us for further proceeding.
